Microsoft provides an easy way to make purchases or unlock digital games without having to store credit card information. Xbox gift cards purchased in stores range from $10 to $100 and include a scratch-off layer on the back that covers a 25-character code. Gamers may also receive a code to unlock a digital game that shipped with an Xbox One bundle. So how do Xbox owners redeem these codes? There are several ways, including inputting the numbers in Windows 10, through a mobile app, and more. Read on to find out how to redeem an Xbox One code. On the Xbox These instructions are based on OS version 10.0.19041.4900. Steps might slightly differ on your Xbox One console. Step 1: Grab a controller and press the Xbox button. Step 2: Select Store on the rollout menu. Alternatively, select the Store tile on the Home screen. Step 3: Expand the Store menu and select Redeem (you can locate this toward the bottom). Step 4: Select Redeem A Code. Step 5: Enter the 25-character code. Make sure to ignore inserting the hyphens. Step 6: Select Next and follow the prompts to complete. In the Microsoft Store app (Windows 10) Using Windows 10 is probably the fastest way to redeem a code. Step 1: Click the Microsoft Store icon on the taskbar. You can also click Start and locate the app on the Start Menu. Step 2: Click the three-dot ellipsis More button located in the app's top-right corner. Step 3: Select Redeem a Code. Step 4: Enter the 25-character code. Again, ignore inserting the hyphens. Step 5: Click Next and follow the prompts to complete. In the Xbox Console Companion app (Windows 10) Right now, Microsoft is trying to switch gamers over to the new Xbox app. Sadly, you won't be able to redeem a code on this app. So we'll go ahead and just use the Xbox Console Companion app because it's currently available and running. Step 1: Click Start and select the Xbox Console Companion app from the Start Menu. Step 2: Click the Microsoft Store symbol on the left-hand side of your screen. Step 3: Choose the Redeem A Code option. Step 4: Enter your 25-character code. Double-check that you don't use any hyphens. If you do, it won't work. Step 5: Hit Next and go through the various prompts to complete all of the instructions. On mobile devices These instructions are usable for both Android and Apple phones, tablets, and iPads. Step 1: Pull up your Xbox mobile app on your mobile device. Step 2: Click the Menu symbol in the upper-left corner (this symbol is a set of three lines). Step 3: Click Browse on the list that pops up. Step 4: Select Redeem A Code. Step 5: Enter your 25-character code. Again, make sure you don't use any hyphens as you type in your code, or it won't work. Step 6: Click Next and continue through the prompts to finish all the steps. In a web browser We've found that this is the easiest method to redeem a code on a PC. Step 1: Pull up the browser of your choice and head to redeem.microsoft.com. Step 2: Sign in to your Microsoft Account. Step 3: Enter your 25-character code (without including any hyphens). Step 4: Click Next and go through the resulting prompts to finish. Editors' Recommendations The latest licensed character has been added to Fortnite, and this time joining the lineup is Predator. Unlike with many other character skins in Fortnite, you're able to unlock the Predator by playing the game instead of buying it with V-bucks. Though, the process of unlocking the skin is quite difficult, which is where we come in. In this guide, we'll show you how to get your hands on the Predator skin in Fortnite. Recommended reading: Defeat the Predator to unlock its skin You might've noticed at the start of season 5, a new area called Stealthy Stronghold was added to the Fortnite map. It's located in the northwest portion of the map, and here is where you'll be spending much of your time earning the Predator skin. What you have to do is defeat the Predator boss — a task that is much easier said than done, and one that mirrors the Wolverine boss from season 4. Once you defeat the creature, you'll be awarded with its skin, but the main difficulty (aside from the fact that the Predator is no pushover) is the other players who will be trying to do the same thing you are. There are a few things to be aware of before facing off against Predator. For one, the boss spawns at random locations throughout Stealthy Stronghold. Because of this, we advise turning on Visualize Sound Effects from the audio settings. This way, you'll have an indicator of the creature's footprints on-screen, making it easier to track down. The reason this is so important is because the Predator can turn invisible, just like in the films! This can make tracking it down pretty tough, but as long as you have Visualize Sound Effects turned on, you'll have an easier time finding Predator. Just look for the clear silhouette that indicates the boss's position. Despite how difficult the boss is, your main issue will likely be the other players looking to defeat the Predator as well. Not only do you have to worry about them taking you out, but if an enemy player gets the finishing blow on the Predator first, you'll have to try again in a separate match. That's why we highly recommend attempting this challenge with a team of players who are all on the same page. The strategy is to make a beeline for Stealthy Stronghold (which can be easier depending on the starting path of the Battle Bus). Then, once you land, try and take note of the locations of other players. We advise you not to land right in the middle, as it will be the busiest. Instead, head for the outskirts of the location and land at one of the huts that contain chests. Collect shields, weapons, and anything else you can find, and then head toward the shooting. If you're lucky, the enemy players will have damaged the boss, so what you and your team have to do is fend off the opposing squads while keeping a lookout for Predator. With a little luck, you'll be able to defeat the other players before they finish off the boss. If the Predator comes into your view, prioritize dealing damage to it before it jumps away. When we succeeded in defeating the boss, our squad did a good job of damaging the Predator while taking care of many of the other teams. The Battle Bus spawned in a location that was far from Stealthy Stronghold, meaning not as many players landed there as you might think. On a few different attempts, the Battle Bus spawned right above Stealthy Stronghold and, as you'd expect, the area was crowded with lots of players, making it much harder to complete the objective. If you're having trouble, keep trying in Squads and coordinate with a team to make sure everyone is aware of what you're trying to do. You might have luck doing it with random players, but unless you're communicating with them, it's tough to rely on them to go to the location and take out the boss. It also might be a good idea to wait a little while since this area is so busy right now. Typically, locations that are home to certain Fortnite challenges become very busy on the day of, but if you wait even just a couple days, it might be more manageable. After you or anyone on your team lands the final blow on Predator, you'll get a notification that you've unlocked the skin. Editors' Recommendations Epic Games It's another day ending in -y so Fortnite is having a new crossover event. Today, Fortnite players can complete quests in order to earn a new Free Guy skin and emote. It was inevitable that Free Guy would get a Fortnite crossover in some way. Fortnite is slowly gobbling up every video game and pop culture IP known to man, so it's only natural that the video game movie would get a piece of that action, too. After all, Free Guy is the closest we've ever gotten to an actual Fortnite movie — for now. (Which is exactly the threat it sounds like.) The "Dude" skin is a super beef-ified version of Ryan Reynolds' character Guy and looks like the kind of person who routinely sets off the lunk alarm at Planet Fitness. Dude curiously has a blue button up shirt tattooed on one of his pectorals which, I'm told by Verge reporter Chaim Gartenberg (who reviewed Free Guy), has an actual Serious Lore explanation. Players can also earn the Good Guy emote, which features Ryan Reynolds' voice saying, "Don't have a good day, have a great day," while the character does a little twirl that would make New Edition proud. Since the emote is voiced, developer Epic says that voice lines will be fully localized in game. Starting today and lasting until September 6th, finding special ATMs scattered around the world will give quests for players to complete. Fortnite players can complete quests in order to earn a new Free Guy emote, while a skin goes on sale at 8PM ET tonight. Soon you too can look like the most generic dudebro ever to grace Fortnite since... Jonesy. Fortnite isn't just a battle royale game — it's a skin-selling machine. Kind of like Altered Carbon on Netflix. You buy skins and wear them. (Image credit: Epic Games) Is it morbid? Yes. But it's also elitist, as not all skins are created equal in Fortnite. Enter the Galaxy skin, which is available only to those with a Galaxy Note 9 or Galaxy Tab S4. Should you own one of these two devices (or have a pal who's willing to let you use their device to sign into your Fortnite account), simply log into your Fortnite account and you'll have access to the skin. It's that simple! Note that once you've claimed the Galaxy skin on your Samsung device, you should be able to use it on any platform you have your Epic account linked to. MORE: Fortnite on the Galaxy Tab S4: Does It Suck?! It's a pretty cool skin that makes you look like a cosmic vagabond, complete with overgrown hair, world-weary eyebrows and, oh, yeah, an entire galaxy swirling inside your body. Said galaxy adjusts depending on the camera angle you view the costume at, meaning you can spend entire stretches in Fortnite just playing with yourself in a corner to see all the unique aesthetics of the premium skin. Lauded Fortnite streamer Ninja has already gotten a chance to use the skin on a live server, thanks to Samsung sending him a very special supply crate that likely required an unjustifiable amount of resources and labor to produce. Alas, the things we do for Fortnite. You can see the skin in action in a video posted to Ninja's YouTube channel. Forbes columnist Paul Tassi decided to call Samsung's support team in order to deduce whether the Galaxy skin might someday become available to Fortnite players without a Note 9 or Tab S4. Though the "language barrier," as he put it, presented a bit of an issue, it seems his detective work paid off. All hints point to the idea that the skin will become available for all Samsung users, eventually.
